

As a developer, I want the squares on the board to have different effects to add some variety and excitement to the game.

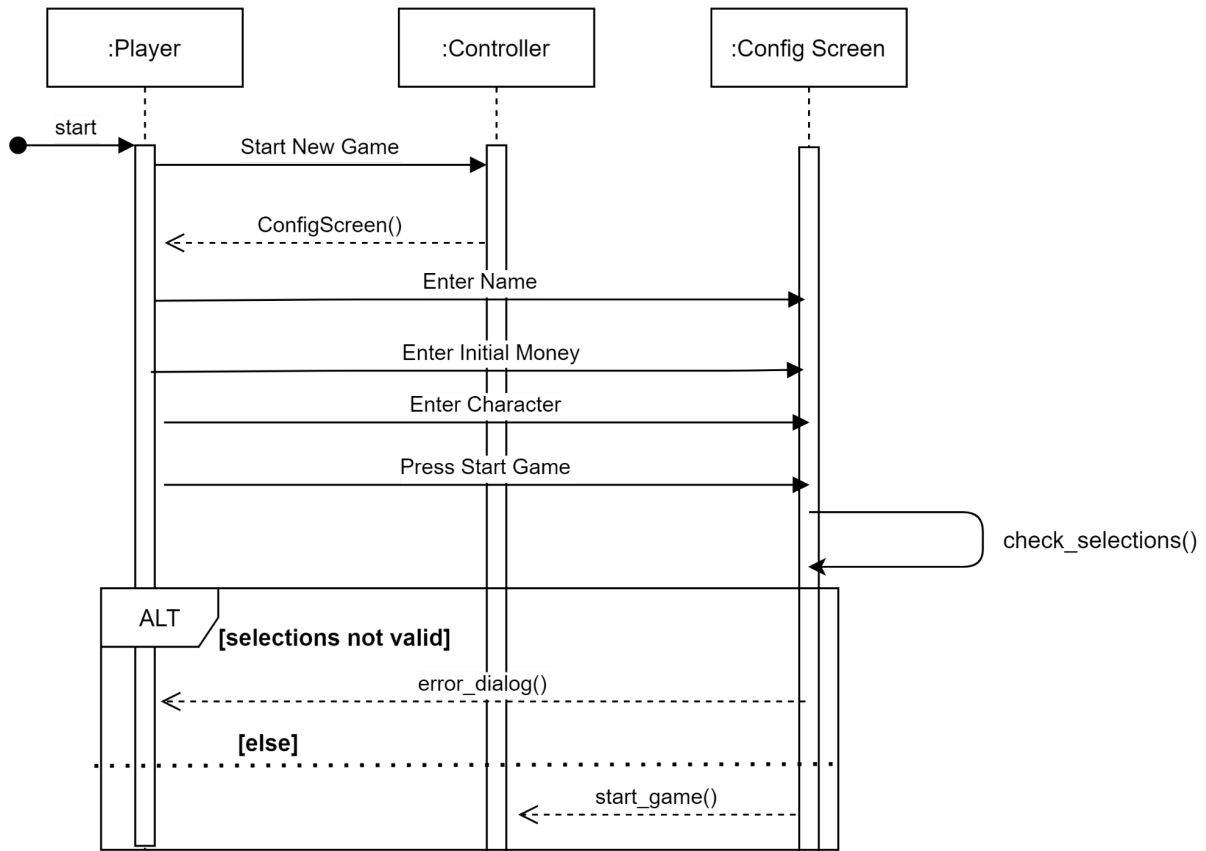

As a player, during my turn I want to either pass or roll the dice so that I can move squares.

User Story and Sequence Diagram

As a player, I want to configure the game name, difficulty, and number of players so that I can customize a new game.

User Story

“As a player, I want to choose my own name and character, so that I can identify and differentiate myself from the other players”
